

Student Learning Outcomes for B.A. in Women's Studies

1. Demonstrate and understanding of how gender, race, class, sexuality and nationality shape culture and society.
2. Comprehend and analyze diverse kinds of argumentation, information and knowledge.
3. Conceptualize and conduct independent research, including appraisal of the validity of different data.
4. Effectively communicate their ideas in writing and through oral presentation appropriate to purpose and audience.
5. Translate their analytical skills and awareness of social diversity towards ethical and informed decision-making.