

Student Learning Outcomes for General Education

Category IV: Arts and Humanities

After completing a Category IV GE course, successful students will be able to do 3 of the following:

1. Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of how different forms of art engage multiple sensory experiences.
2. Communicate a recognition and understanding of diverse forms of expression across the globe, past and present.
3. Demonstrate an understanding of the research and creative methods used in the construction of knowledge in the arts and humanities.
4. Demonstrate a critical recognition of the historical and philosophical approaches to the formation of culture, including the impact of technology on aesthetic experience.
5. Identify how different theories and practices, over time, shape our interpretation of cultural and creative expression.
